

how the saints survived fear is always hungry the saints were afraid all the time they never knew when food would come or lightning would strike they were chased night and day by the devil and god was nowhere in sight they had to rely on the trees and the stones their wise and silent brothers to keep from going crazy and falling away from the path.